

Marche salope

Celine Chariot

CREATION - Belgium | Theatre

«Marche des salopes» is French for SlutWalk, a march that first appeared in April 2011 in Toronto in Canada when a police officer said: «Women should avoid dressing like sluts in order not to be victimised.» Silence speaks louder than words if you listen hard enough. Let's hear the silence.

I'm not trying to tell the story of women and even less so my own, I'm not trying to victimise men, I'm not seeking justice, I'm not a specialist in feminist thought, I'm looking into myself and I want to use what I see to do something that is relatable, powerful, documented and poetic. Do you realise how little you know yourself?
